Officer Jud. Reeder, of the police force, went up the road on Tuesday evening's train, and arrested at Johnson City, Joe Martin, colored, a railroader, on the charge of stabbing Lon Compton in the back, a week ago last Saturday night. He was brought to the city and arraigned before Justice S. R. Rodgers, but the trial was postponed till this morning, and Martin was allowed to go on his own recognizance. Lon was getting along very well with his wound, which was beginning to heal up, but last Monday he went hunting with his brother, Brownlow, and in the effort of shooting he tore open the old wound, and the blood gushed from him in a perfect stream. Brownlow took off his shirt and tore it to shreds and bandadged the wound as best he could, and with much difficulty got Lon. home. It was hard to get the flow of blood stopped, and Lon. came near bleeding to death. He was improving at last accounts, though very weak, from the

THE FIRE PUESDAY NIGHT.

No Interruption of Work—Mr. Greenleaf Loss Not Over $900.

It transpires, after investigation, that the loss sustained by Mr. C. A. Greenleaf in the burning of his turn table foundry, opposite the Knoxville Car Wheel Factory, Tuesday night, was much lass than at first anticipated. His individual loss was not over $900, consisting of castings, patterns, &c. The machine shop, the principal part of the works, was located on the other side of the railroad, and was not touched at all. A wrong impression was calculated to be conveyed from our article about the continuation of the work. Mr Greenleaf continue right along, without interruption, and will fill all his orders for turn tables for various railroads. By the kindness of the man agement of the KLoxville Iron Company, Mr. Greenleaf has been granted the use of their foundry, and will be enabled to resume the making of castings to-day.

The building which was burned was only leased. It belonged to the Knoxville Car Wheel Company, and the loss to them. by the fire, was perhaps about $2,000. Nothing deffinitely has been determined yet Perhaps there are very few who are aware of the extent to which Mr. Greenleaf has in a substantial way, pushing this enterprise of manufacturing his patent turn tables. He has been, and is still, introducing them all over the United States, and it is one of the most important manufacturing enterprises in Knoxville. It is gratifying to know that it was not more seriously affected by the fire.

The thirteen orders which Mr. Greenless had on hands were not for our E. T., Va. & Ga. Railroad, but are distributed as follows: One for the Baltimore & Ohio, to be located at Staunton, Va.; one for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, located at Chicago; one for the Cincinnati, Hamilow of blood stopped, and Lon. came near leeding to death. He was improving at ast accounts, though very weak, from the oss of blood.

Wm.
